What's New?

Less time waiting; more time doing. That's the philosophy behind Pivotal 6.6.3. See how we've made it happen and how your day-to-day will be much more efficient.

Searches run quicker than ever before! They now run in parallel and in the background and will show the results that load the fastest first, so you're not losing valuable time waiting for answers.

Forms also load much faster in Pivotal 6.6.3, so if you need to enter a new lead, edit company information or find your contact's details for an important meeting, you'll be in the record, out again and onto your next task quicker than ever before.

Scrolling through endless lists of search results to get to what you need isn't the most productive way to work. In Pivotal 6.6.3, you can jump straight to the page you need without having to scroll through multiple pages beforehand, getting to your search results faster and giving your scrolling hand a break.

If you're a Pivotal customizer, we've included some enhancements just for you. In version 6.6.3 there are additional configuration options for Pivotal search result lists so you can add results that should appear and remove any that aren't relevant, helping users to find exactly what they need more quickly. You can also change and enhance the list of actions users can take in task pads in the Action Centre, adding favourites for faster access and removing any that are rarely used.

We've also made improvements to the integration API to accelerate communication. There's now a much faster API connection which brings with it quicker response times and the ability to multi-task while requesting information through an API, so you don't have to wait while crucial information is delivered.
